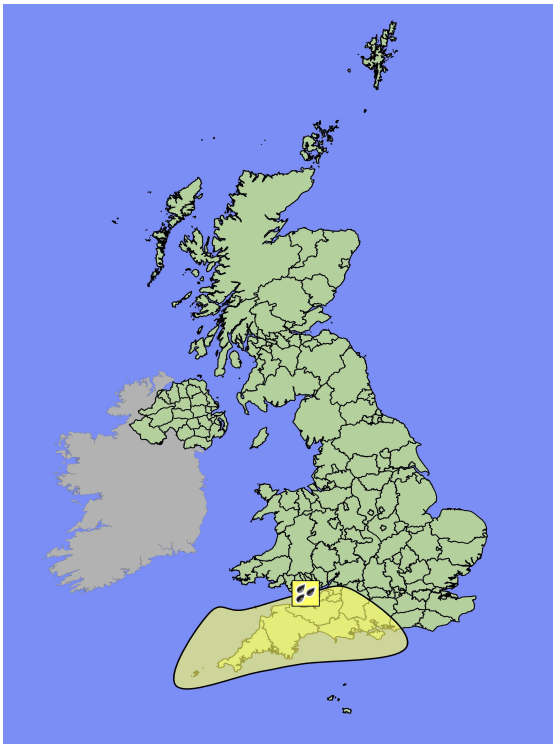
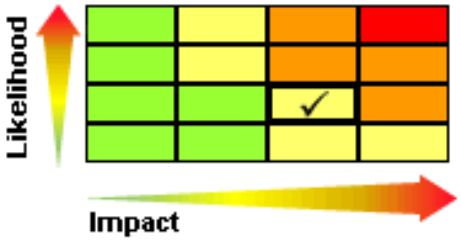
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Heavy, locally thundery, showers are expected to affect the area as a low pressure area comes eastwards. 20 mm or more may fall locally, though accumulations will be very variable with most parts seeing less. Nevertheless, this may exacerbate recent flooding problems.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 00:05 on Mon, 26th Nov 2012 until 18:00 on Mon, 26th Nov 2012

Heavy showers are expected to affect the area during Monday. Given the saturated nature of ground, the public should be aware of the possibility of further flooding and disruption to travel.
